

not with the degenerate Republicanism of 1868. * * To the National Convention, representing thoroughly this order of Republicanism, Harrison appealed irresistibly."

BREAD AND BUTTER TRIUMPH.
KANSAS CITY, June 10.—The Times (Dem.) says: "It is the most signal triumph the bread and butter brigade has ever won."
The Journal: "Mr. Harrison may not be so brilliant a man as Mr. Blaine, but as a vote-getter he is Blaine's superior."

THE EXIT OF BLAINE.
DETROIT, Mich., June 11.—The Free Press (Dem.) says: "While the Republican party cannot honestly be congratulated on this outcome of the convention, which fastened on it the reproach of degrading most shamefully the civil service, it can be congratulated heartily on one of the side results. We mean on the exit of ex-Secretary of State Blaine from politics."

CONFORT FOR THE COUNTRY.
PORTLAND, Ore., June 11.—The Oregonian says: "If the Democrats will nominate Cleveland we shall have an administration safe and sound on those questions of financial policy upon which the country has been most disturbed, whether the one or the other be elected."

BLAINE UNDESERVEDLY HUMILIATED.
CINCINNATI, June 11.—The Enquirer (Dem.) says: "Upon Secretary Blaine the leaders of the opposing faction placed an unmerited humiliation for using his name before the convention, when it was patent to the whole country that his nomination was an impossibility."

HARRISON THE FITTEST.
DENVER, Col., June 11.—The Republican says: "President Harrison's nomination means another great victory for the Republican party in November. Among all the men spoken of for this nomination during the past year he was by far the fittest."

A THREAT TO NATIONAL HARMONY.
MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 11.—The Appellate (Dem.) says: "The Democratic party has now only to defeat a man who has arrayed against him the powerful chiefs of his party, the man who has burst in on the verge of war with absolutely no warrant, the sponsor for Wamaker and Ramm, the typical narrow-minded representative of all that is objectionable in his party. The renomination of Benjamin Harrison is a threat to the harmony of the country and the old Blaine yell has been heard for the last time."

THE POWER OF A MACHINE.
NEW ORLEANS, June 11.—The Picayune says editorially: "The nomination of Harrison is an illustration of the power of the political machine created by executive patronage."

THE RESULT LOGICAL.
The Times-Herald says: "Harrison was logically his own successor for the nomination. He has made a possibly good President, as far as a Republican whose chief characteristics are sordid ability, illiberality and sanctimoniousness could in the onerous role."

PHILADELPHIA DEBATE.
PHILADELPHIA, June 10.—The North American says: "If any impeachment could have been made of the person or the political integrity of the President, * * * the renomination would have been impossible."

The Times: "Harrison is a strong candidate, or that let those interested take timely notice."

The Inquirer: "The Republican party never had more reason to be satisfied with its prospects."

The Record: "The nomination of President Harrison will ensure the adoption of the coming Chicago convention to meet it with a candidate possessing in a greater degree the confidence of the masses of the country."

The Press: "The nomination is on all accounts the most fit and every way proper."

The Ledger: "Those who made this admirable nomination have laid reason for the indulgence of the hope and belief that that which they did in the heat of a June convention will be justified at the ballot boxes in the gust of November, after the silence of deliberate judgment."

SEN. HARRISON'S PAPER.

HELENA, Mont., June 11.—The office of Russell Harrison's paper, the Journal, was surrounded by eager crowds who received the news of the President's nomination with boisterous manifestations of enthusiasm. The Journal says, editorially, today: "Harrison's renomination reflects the people's wishes and meets with the approval of the country."

THE EVOLVING PRESS.

LONDON, June 11.—The burden of the comments of all the evening papers on the renomination of President Harrison and the selection of Mr. Whitelaw Field as the Republican candidate for Vice-President is joy over the defeat of Mr. Blaine, who is accused of constant attempts to make party capital out of foreign politics.

The Full Mill Gazette, however, has a word of sympathy for the cruel disappointment of "the ablest Republican and most astute politician in the United States."

Union Printers Indorse Reid.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 11.—Before the nomination of Whitelaw Field for Vice-President had been decided upon, a telegram signed by a committee of Typographical Union No. 6, of New York, stating that the different news between Mr. Reid had been settled last Sunday, was exhibited by members of the New York delegation. The telegram read:

To the Republican National Convention and the Members of the New York Delegation.

GENTLEMEN: At a meeting of the undersigned, a committee representing Typographical Union

DABY McKEE—We are the People, Gran'ther. Bet yer hat!

(From last night's Convention Extra No. 10.)

No. 6, of New York, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the difference existing between our Union and the New York Times have been honorably adjusted to the complete satisfaction of both sides.

Resolved, That the Hon. Whitelaw Field, editor of the Times, has been favorably mentioned as a candidate of the Republican party for Vice-President; therefore, be it

Resolved, That this Committee indorse his candidacy and requests that he be named for the office.

(Signed) John A. Kearny, President Typographical Union No. 6, William J. Brennan, Robert A. Costello, Thomas Hancock, Pierce P. Hurley, Committee.

SOME WHO ARE NOT ENTHUSIAST.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 11.—Chairman Clarkson of the National Committee, said to a reporter:

"We could have beaten Harrison if we had been able a little sooner to give a positive assurance that Mr. Blaine would accept the nomination. We were not really able to do this until last Saturday. Even after that we could have won but for the feeling aroused by Mr. Blaine's resignation from the Cabinet. We made a good fight and lost. I am not sorry we made the effort to nominate somebody instead of Mr. Harrison, and for the good of the party I sincerely regret that we did not succeed."

Congressman Boutelle, of Maine, expressed himself thus: "The nomination will arouse great enthusiasm in Texas."

Col. Harry New, editor of the Indianapolis Journal, was confident that Harrison would be elected, although he admitted that Indiana was a close state and that the election machinery there was in the hands of the Democrats.

Gov. McKinley declared: "What votes I may have shall be used for Harrison, and with it goes my heart."

Senator Quay said, tersely: "Pennsylvania will probably give a good majority for the Republican ticket."

It Was Splendid News Service.
The dispatches of the Associated Press, which kept New York people constantly posted as to events transpiring at Minneapolis, have elicited many expressions of admiration from business men and others. The service was unexcelled for promptness and thoroughness.

Solving could have been better or more thorough than the system of bulletins organized by the Postal Telegraph Company, by which the public was informed of every movement in the Convention at the moment it occurred.

From first to last the United Press was "not in it."

At the White House To-Day.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—It was comparatively quiet at the White House today after the excitement of yesterday. The President busied himself with the usual routine of business, and held a large reception in the East Room at 1 o'clock. Nearly all the officials in the city called during the day and extended their congratulations. Hundreds of telegrams were received.

MINISTER PORTER DECLINES.

He Will Not Stand for the Governorship in Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 11.—The Journal this morning publishes a letter from Albert G. Porter, Minister to Rome, declining to accept a nomination for Governor.

The letter is dated Rome, May 26.

The Tabernacle Suite.

Justice Bartlett, of the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, has signed an order referring the suit of Thomas Overington, against the Brooklyn Tabernacle to Lawyer Joseph T. Maran.

PERTHAMBOY EXCITED

A Tramp Arrested There To-Day for Hester Anderson's Murder.

Blood-Stained Clothing Causes a Belief that He is the Assassin.

Capt. James, of the Boat Ellorado, Offers Mayor Chase a Clue.

PERTHAMBOY, N. J., June 11.—Another arrest has been made in connection with the murder of Hester Mary Anderson, the pretty Danish servant-girl who was butchered Wednesday afternoon in a patch of woods about a mile north of this place.

PERTHAMBOY, N. J., June 11.—Another arrest has been made in connection with the murder of Hester Mary Anderson, the pretty Danish servant-girl who was butchered Wednesday afternoon in a patch of woods about a mile north of this place.

PERTHAMBOY, N. J., June 11.—Another arrest has been made in connection with the murder of Hester Mary Anderson, the pretty Danish servant-girl who was butchered Wednesday afternoon in a patch of woods about a mile north of this place.

PERTHAMBOY, N. J., June 11.—Another arrest has been made in connection with the murder of Hester Mary Anderson, the pretty Danish servant-girl who was butchered Wednesday afternoon in a patch of woods about a mile north of this place.

PERTHAMBOY, N. J., June 11.—Another arrest has been made in connection with the murder of Hester Mary Anderson, the pretty Danish servant-girl who was butchered Wednesday afternoon in a patch of woods about a mile north of this place.

PERTHAMBOY, N. J., June 11.—Another arrest has been made in connection with the murder of Hester Mary Anderson, the pretty Danish servant-girl who was butchered Wednesday afternoon in a patch of woods about a mile north of this place.

PERTHAMBOY, N. J., June 11.—Another arrest has been made in connection with the murder of Hester Mary Anderson, the pretty Danish servant-girl who was butchered Wednesday afternoon in a patch of woods about a mile north of this place.

PERTHAMBOY, N. J., June 11.—Another arrest has been made in connection with the murder of Hester Mary Anderson, the pretty Danish servant-girl who was butchered Wednesday afternoon in a patch of woods about a mile north of this place.

PERTHAMBOY, N. J., June 11.—Another arrest has been made in connection with the murder of Hester Mary Anderson, the pretty Danish servant-girl who was butchered Wednesday afternoon in a patch of woods about a mile north of this place.

PERTHAMBOY, N. J., June 11.—Another arrest has been made in connection with the murder of Hester Mary Anderson, the pretty Danish servant-girl who was butchered Wednesday afternoon in a patch of woods about a mile north of this place.

PERTHAMBOY, N. J., June 11.—Another arrest has been made in connection with the murder of Hester Mary Anderson, the pretty Danish servant-girl who was butchered Wednesday afternoon in a patch of woods about a mile north of this place.

PERTHAMBOY, N. J., June 11.—Another arrest has been made in connection with the murder of Hester Mary Anderson, the pretty Danish servant-girl who was butchered Wednesday afternoon in a patch of woods about a mile north of this place.

tonight. He is verging on the delirium tremens. The discharge of Morris, the Middlesex County official will be left in the same dark darkness they were in upon the discovery of the tragedy.

STAPLETON, S. I., June 11.—A man is now locked up in Police Headquarters here on suspicion of being implicated in the Perth Amboy murder. He says he belongs to the "Bunch," a notorious set of thugs in his possession. The razor was found in his possession. The razor was found in his possession. The razor was found in his possession.

STAPLETON, S. I., June 11.—A man is now locked up in Police Headquarters here on suspicion of being implicated in the Perth Amboy murder. He says he belongs to the "Bunch," a notorious set of thugs in his possession. The razor was found in his possession. The razor was found in his possession.

STAPLETON, S. I., June 11.—A man is now locked up in Police Headquarters here on suspicion of being implicated in the Perth Amboy murder. He says he belongs to the "Bunch," a notorious set of thugs in his possession. The razor was found in his possession. The razor was found in his possession.

STAPLETON, S. I., June 11.—A man is now locked up in Police Headquarters here on suspicion of being implicated in the Perth Amboy murder. He says he belongs to the "Bunch," a notorious set of thugs in his possession. The razor was found in his possession. The razor was found in his possession.

STAPLETON, S. I., June 11.—A man is now locked up in Police Headquarters here on suspicion of being implicated in the Perth Amboy murder. He says he belongs to the "Bunch," a notorious set of thugs in his possession. The razor was found in his possession. The razor was found in his possession.

STAPLETON, S. I., June 11.—A man is now locked up in Police Headquarters here on suspicion of being implicated in the Perth Amboy murder. He says he belongs to the "Bunch," a notorious set of thugs in his possession. The razor was found in his possession. The razor was found in his possession.

STAPLETON, S. I., June 11.—A man is now locked up in Police Headquarters here on suspicion of being implicated in the Perth Amboy murder. He says he belongs to the "Bunch," a notorious set of thugs in his possession. The razor was found in his possession. The razor was found in his possession.

STAPLETON, S. I., June 11.—A man is now locked up in Police Headquarters here on suspicion of being implicated in the Perth Amboy murder. He says he belongs to the "Bunch," a notorious set of thugs in his possession. The razor was found in his possession. The razor was found in his possession.

STAPLETON, S. I., June 11.—A man is now locked up in Police Headquarters here on suspicion of being implicated in the Perth Amboy murder. He says he belongs to the "Bunch," a notorious set of thugs in his possession. The razor was found in his possession. The razor was found in his possession.

STAPLETON, S. I., June 11.—A man is now locked up in Police Headquarters here on suspicion of being implicated in the Perth Amboy murder. He says he belongs to the "Bunch," a notorious set of thugs in his possession. The razor was found in his possession. The razor was found in his possession.

STAPLETON, S. I., June 11.—A man is now locked up in Police Headquarters here on suspicion of being implicated in the Perth Amboy murder. He says he belongs to the "Bunch," a notorious set of thugs in his possession. The razor was found in his possession. The razor was found in his possession.

STAPLETON, S. I., June 11.—A man is now locked up in Police Headquarters here on suspicion of being implicated in the Perth Amboy murder. He says he belongs to the "Bunch," a notorious set of thugs in his possession. The razor was found in his possession. The razor was found in his possession.

THE TURF.

Tournament's Faint Heart, Not Hamilton's Riding, Lost the Race.

PLUNGES ON MADSTONE.

Mendicant Proves Herself to Be a Very Fast Filly.

Tournament, the faint-hearted and cowardly son of Sir Madrid, made his first appearance of the season yesterday. He was plunged upon to an extraordinary degree and went to the post a hot favorite over Fairy, Russell, Madstone, Tortmentor and others. Jockey Tony Hamilton rode him. Tournament lost the race, and Hamilton was most unjustly abused by those who lost their money on the horses. In view of the circumstances Hamilton was not to blame for Tournament's defeat. The stories of his turning in the saddle and jerking at Garrison are ridiculous. The horse would have performed no better with any other jockey up, for Hamilton is admittedly one of the most skilled riders in the country. He has his streaks of bad luck, it is true. The same can be said of other jockeys. The writer has seen Garrison, Taral, Bergen and others ride like shoemakers at times, but because a boy slips up once it is no reason why he should be roundly abused for the rest of his life. Hamilton did the best he could. He may have been a trifle over-confident at the end of the last sixteen furlongs, for there Garrison was whipping Madstone and Tournament was going easily. The critics who cry, "Why didn't he go on with Tournament?" would have been the first to cry against Hamilton had he gone on, that the boy was crazy in exposing the horse's form. The truth of the matter is that Tournament is the rankest coward that ever stood on four legs. His heart must be a curiosity if he possesses such an organ, and it is extremely doubtful if he does. He ran easily yesterday up to the last thirty yards. At the point he was two lengths in front of Madstone, on whom Garrison had been working for a sixth of a mile. Then Tournament stopped so suddenly that in three or four jumps Madstone had made up the gap and had won by daylight.

Tournament always possessed a great turn of speed, if he won his races, by getting so far in front in the first part of the journey that his heart was never agitated by hearing the hoof-beats of the others close behind him. The writer remembers the instructions given to George Taylor by Green B. Morris when that jockey rode Fairy in a race against Tournament at Morris Park two years ago. Mr. Morris said: "You must keep in place with Tournament in the first mile. Take things easy, pick out the dry spots and let the horse rate in a good wood. At the end of a mile begin to move up. You'll catch Tournament, and when you get near him, he'll be beaten. Taylor followed instructions and beat Tournament in hollow style. The son of Sir Madrid went out in his usual style, and opened up a big gap. As soon as Relay caught him he stopped his ears, and so fast that Garrison beat him out for the place. Time and time again has Tournament shown himself an arrant coward. His proper place is in the female dashes at Gloucester.

The weights of the prominent entries for Wednesday Handicap at seven furlongs for three-year-olds, to be run at Morris Park on Monday, are as follows: Tammany, 127; Patron, 123; St. Florian, 122; Locustache, 120; Lamplighter, 118; Yorkville Belle, 110; St. Matthew, 115; Lorraine, 115; Unguent, 114; Nomad, 113; King Cadmus, 112; Chickadee, 112; Addie, 110; Mars, 108; Chickadee, 108.

Turman Edward Corrigan has decided to bring on Killy and Huron as soon as the month meeting begins. Corrigan is reported as saying that he would race over the Eastern tracks in spite of the Board of Control. From all accounts there will be a "monkey and a parrot of a time" when he arrives.

The Executive Committee of the Ontario Jockey Club have ruled off B. G. McConnel, of Almonie, Ont., for running Post odds, alias caddo, under the name of Warbler.

Dave Gideon and Orlando Jones were heavy winners on Madstone. They played him all three ways.

Hamilton had a narrow escape from being killed on Killy and Huron as soon as the month meeting begins. Corrigan is reported as saying that he would race over the Eastern tracks in spite of the Board of Control. From all accounts there will be a "monkey and a parrot of a time" when he arrives.

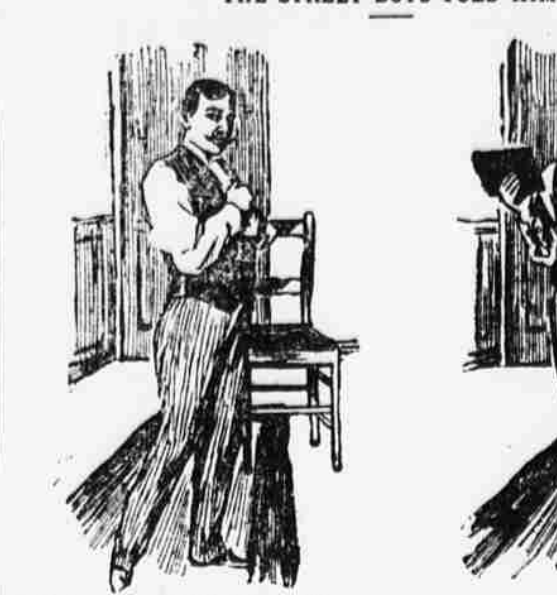

The Executive Committee of the Ontario Jockey Club have ruled off B. G. McConnel, of Almonie, Ont., for running Post odds, alias caddo, under the name of Warbler.

Dave Gideon and Orlando Jones were heavy winners on Madstone. They played him all three ways.

Hamilton had a narrow escape from being killed on Killy and Huron as soon as the month meeting begins. Corrigan is reported as saying that he would race over the Eastern tracks in spite of the Board of Control. From all accounts there will be a "monkey and a parrot of a time" when he arrives.

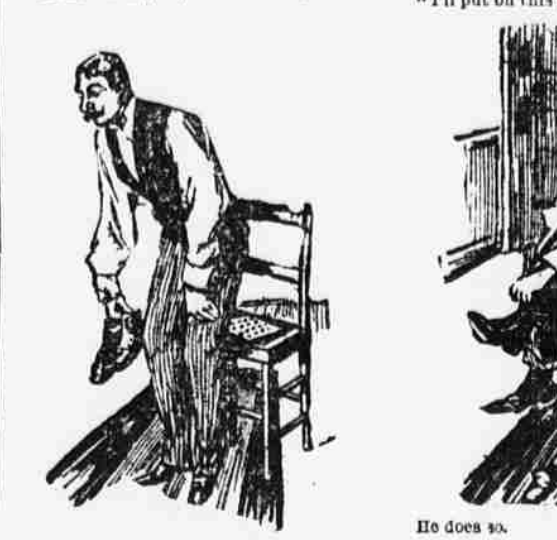

The Executive Committee of the Ontario Jockey Club have ruled off B. G. McConnel, of Almonie, Ont., for running Post odds, alias caddo, under the name of Warbler.

THE STREET BOYS TOLD HIM.

"I believe I'm going into a decline."

"I'll put on this porous plaster."

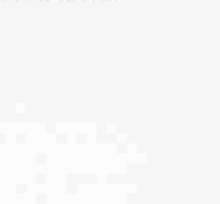

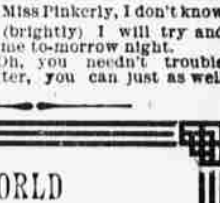

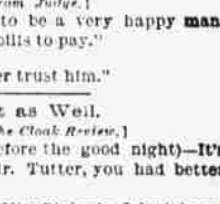

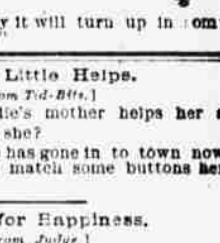

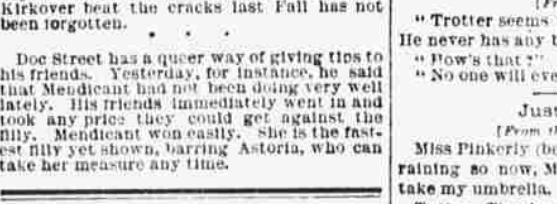

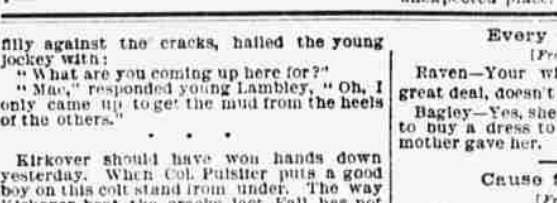

"I'll put my shoes on first, though."

"Now where the thunder did I put that plaster?"

"Well, I dare say it will turn up in some unexpected place."

HOTEL KEEPERS, CAFE KEEPERS AND RESTAURANT KEEPERS. ATTENTION!

MULLIN AND GINGER CHAMPAGNE

Are the favorite beverages with all, and it will be to your advantage and profit to increase your stock NOW. Unexcelled for Family, Club, Restaurant and Bar Uses. Packed in cases of 50 Quarts, 24 Quarts, 100 Pints, 48 Pints. Convenient forms for Dealer and Consumer. The Trade supplied by TURLE & SKIDMORE, 156 FRANKLIN ST., N. Y. Circulars Sent on Application.